Message From Our President

Does anyone know where summer went?! Wow! I cannot believe we are ready to start a new year of Philo! I am so excited to lead this amazing group of women this and very honored you trust me to do so. I would first like to apologize that I will not be present for our first general meeting. I have a work trip that I must attend, but I have met with the new board to discuss upcoming issues. You are in good hands!

Most of you know me, but those that do not I have been a member of Philo for almost 15 years. I am almost honorary status, which is unbelievable to me. I look around now, see all these new faces, and cannot believe how quickly time has gone by. Philo has been such a great organization to be part of and I cherish all the friendships I have such a great organization to be part of and I cherish all the friendships I have made over the years. My husband and I used to joke about how we could not take my mother-in-law Mary anywhere without her knowing everyone. I think my husband is starting to feel the same way about me, as we cannot go anywhere without running into one of my amazing Philo sister. In addition to my husband, I also have two children. My son, Emerson is 13 and starting 8th grade and my daughter Addison is 10 and will start 5th grade this year.

Another fun fact is that I love holidays! Christmas is of course my favorite, and my husband complains that my birthday turns into a month long affair. I also love getting to know others and finding out fun facts about them. So while there should always be a reason to celebrate something, in honor of national Swap Ideas Day on September 10th (our first general meeting) I would like each of you to bring a great idea for a good book to read and swap with the ladies at your table during our general meeting. Let them know the title of the book and why you thought I was amazing. I'll start! My great book idea is "The Immortal Life of Henrietta Lacks". It was intriguing medical discoveries and how it was all due to one woman who was not even aware at the time. Happy Swap Ideas Day and Happy Reading!

INTEGRATED EARLY CHILDHOOD

The committee has been busy already this year. We purchased school supplies, packaged bags and delivered 130 bags to the Thompson School District Early Childhood Program.

We are having a Book Fair at Barnes & Noble Centerra November 16 so mark your calendars!

Plan on doing your Christmas shopping or you can purchase your books for our Christmas book drive and we win twice.

Looking forward to another great year!

ROTARY DUCK RACE TICKET SALES...

Thank you to everyone who purchased tickets. By the September meeting, we should know if there are any winners among us.

We are happy to report a sales total of $1,080 of which Philo retains $864 (80%) and Rotary keeps $216 (20%). We equaled our sale of 54 sets (7 tickets per set) for 2018, but sadly did not meet our budgeted amount of $1,200 in total sales—just 6 sets short of our goal.

The Rotary Duck Race Ticket Sales is one of two fundraising events that support our club operations. While it is hoped that Philo can replace the Shopping Extravaganza as a fundraiser, the pressure is on to do as well or better next year in Duck Race Ticket Sales.

Look for us in March for the 2020 Rotary Duck Race Ticket Sales.

Respectfully submitted,
Linda Stangel, chair
Barbara Giesey, co-chair

"In an effort to make our annual Dine Out With Heart community fundraiser more successful, our committee has been busy this past spring & summer working with experienced local entities and planning some exciting & thoughtful changes. While we will not be holding the event this October, we hope you will stay tuned for more information to come on our plans for an even better event next spring. We will be working with the Board and the Christmas Basket committee to be sure we're still contributing to their program this year as we've always done. Thank you so much for your support and we look forward to sharing more details as they become available."
